

GRAPHOLOGY TOOL OF THE WEEK!

Illegible threading stroke

Graphologically speaking -

- the writer chooses to convey his message without clearly writing the letters. He wants to reach the end without spending too time or attention to each step.
- It shows he or she is spontaneous, gets along with people easily, and has a high speed of thinking.
- At the same time, it also means the writer is impatient, has to reach the end at any cost. They prefer quantity over quality. It's a myth that All doctors, even the busiest ones have illegible handwriting.
